YOUR CRUISE DAY BY DAY

DAY 1

Mahé, Eden Island - Sainte Anne

Welcome aboard your catamaran. Over cocktails, your captain and hostess will introduce you to the ship and brief you on life on board.

Once you've settled in, you'll leave the marina for a short sail to the marine park of Ste Anne, whose largest island was also the first to be colonized by the French, around 1750, before they left for Mahé. More than 150 species of fish inhabit this fascinating underwater world, a veritable refuge placed under high protection, like almost half the land and sea territory of the Seychelles. Welcome to paradise on this first stopover: get out your fins, mask and snorkel right away.

Dinner and overnight at anchor in the marine park.

DAY 2

Sainte Anne - Praslin

After breakfast and an early morning dip in the natural aquarium, we set sail for Praslin.

The Seychelles' second-largest island, located at 45 km northeast of the main island of Mahé, it's just 10 km long and 3.7 km wide! Depending on the season and weather, you'll anchor at Anse Lazio or in Ste Anne Bay, on the other side of the island.

The bay of Ste Anne has the restful charm of a village on the edge of a rainforest, with a wonderful view of Praslin Island and a large, welcoming beach. Anse Lazio is reputed to be one of the most beautiful beaches in the world, as are many other Seychelles beaches... Even if its flour-white sand has the effect of a magnet on you, you must make the most of your stopover in Praslin to discover (not included) another of the island's jewels: the Vallée de Mai, a UNESCO World Heritage site.

If the original Garden of Eden ever existed, it must have resembled the Vallée de Mai. A vast forest of primary palms, the valley is home to the legendary coco de mer, the world's largest seed, the evocatively-named coco-fesse, which rises to over 30 meters. The forest is home to six species palm trees found only in the Seychelles.

The ambient humidity, intoxicating perfumes, the rustle of the palms, the half-light where a few rays of sun filter through, will project you into another world, at the dawn of time. Dinner and overnight at anchor opposite Anse Lazio or Anse Ste Anne beach (not to be confused with the islet of Sainte Anne, your stopover the day before).

DAY 3

Praslin - La Digue

Early this morning, you'll set sail for your next port of call, the legendary island of La Digue. It boasts one of the most photographed beaches in the world: Anse Source d'Argent. As enchanting in nature as it is on glossy paper, you could spend an eternity here, just wondering how a place can offer so much beauty. La Digue is also a natural sanctuary, home to one of the rarest birds on earth, the Paradise black flycatcher, as well as a rich flora of orchids, vanilla vines, hibiscus and nepenthes, carnivorous plants known locally as « pot à eau », in reference to their curious cups.

Discover this idyllic island by bicycle or oxcart: the small traditional shipyard, the old-fashioned copra factory, the land tortoises that graze just a stone's throw away... Not forgetting the splendid colonial house known as « Emmanuelle's », where the famous « Good Bye Emmanuelle » was filmed. Very sensual, the Seychelles, they say... !

Dinner and overnight at anchor in La Digue.

DAY 4

La Digue - Coco - Curieuse

This morning, we set sail for Coco Island, 7km north of La Digue, close to neighboring Félicité and the Sister Islands. Classified as a marine park since 1996, the island is exceptional for both snorkeling and diving. After this morning foray into the wondrous world of coral, you'll set sail for your third island of the day, Curieuse. Once home to a leper colony in Anse Saint Joseph, this rough island has recently been converted into an eco-museum, with the doctor's home dating from 1870. Today, Curieuse is part of an exciting project to breed giant tortoises. You can meet them all over the island. It is also an important breeding site for Hawksbill turtles. Dinner and overnight at anchor in Curieuse.

DAY 5

Curieuse - Saint Pierre - Praslin

Morning departure for the islet of St Pierre. Saint Pierre is one of the islands in Praslin's Côte d'Or bay. It's a tiny islet of granite rocks interspersed with coconut palms, one of the archipelago's emblematic images. This perfect spot for swimming and snorkeling will welcome you for a day of total relaxation, punctuated by a marvelous sunset. Dinner and overnight at anchor off a Praslin beach.

DAY 6

Praslin - Cousin - Mahé

After breakfast and a morning swim, we're off to Cousin Island, just a stone's throw from Praslin and next to neighboring Cousine. Managed by Birdlife International since 1975, it has been classified as a nature reserve since 1968. A veritable bird sanctuary, Cousin is home to 25,000 birds, including rare species such as the Seychelles Warbler, saved from total extinction by the reserve, the Seychelles Song Magpie and the Red Turtle Dove. A colony of Gecko turtles, imported from Aldabra atoll, also lives happily here. A guided tour of the Bird Paradise is available for a fee. You'll see the 5 species of birds that live only in this region. You'll then set sail for Mahé Island, to anchor either opposite Beau Vallon beach, at the northwest, or at Anse Royale in the island's southeast, depending on the wind. Dinner and overnight at anchor.

DAY 7

Beau Vallon, Anse Major, Victoria & Sainte Anne Marine Park

Wake up to the view of the famous Beau Vallon Beach. Its long stretch of white sand, lined with casuarina trees and coconut palms, offers one of the finest panoramas on Mahé Island.

A short sail then takes you to Anse Major, one of Mahé's most unspoiled beaches. Accessible mainly on foot or by sea, this secluded bay reveals a remarkable natural setting, with tropical vegetation, granite boulders sculpted by time, and turquoise waters. Far from the crowds, it perfectly showcases the landscapes that have made the Seychelles world-renowned. Swimming, snorkeling, or simply relaxing on the sand set the pace of this peaceful stop before lunch is served on board against this idyllic backdrop.

In the early afternoon, your catamaran heads for Victoria, one of the world's smallest capitals. With its relaxed atmosphere, colorful houses, lively market, and iconic clock tower inspired by London's Big Ben, the Seychellois capital has a distinctive charm. You will have free time to stroll through its streets, browse local shops, or simply soak up the laid-back ambiance of the town. Later in the afternoon, a final sail brings you to Sainte

Anne Marine Park, a true natural gem located just off the coast of Mahé. This protected area is home to calm, crystal-clear waters where coral reefs, tropical fish, and occasionally sea turtles thrive. A final snorkeling session, a swim in the transparent waters, or a walk along a shaded beach offers the perfect opportunity to enjoy the Seychellois way of life until the very end of your journey.

Back on board, it is time to share a final sunset aperitif followed by a farewell dinner in a warm and convivial atmosphere. Overnight stay at anchor or in the marina, depending on guests' return flight schedules.

Please note: If weather conditions do not allow for comfortable anchoring on the west coast of Mahé, Beau Vallon and Anse Major will be replaced by an overnight stay and morning stop at Anse Royale, a beautiful white-sand bay located on the island's east coast.

DAY 8

Mahé, Eden Island

Before sunrise, we set sail for Eden Island Marina. Last breakfast on board, then early disembarkation to catch your flight home or continue your vacation in this archipelago paradise.
